

---

Reckham is our mutant Scotch Roman. We wanted to draw a Century Expanded that turned Clarendon when it got bolder, but somewhere along the way the serifs came unbracketed and our ideals of clarity and rigor had to make room for a few eccentric details. Then we couldn't decide on a degree of contrast, so we went with all of them. The No1 Series, with its hairline thin strokes, is nearly Didone, and its blackest weights are Fat Face. The nearly monoline No4 Series is typewriterish in the lightest styles and Egyptian in the darkest. No2 and No3 Series represent sturdy and quite readable steps along the way. The result isn't what we expected, but it must have been what we wanted. Six weights, four degrees of contrast, and matching italics add up to 48 styles. The full family includes variable roman and italic fonts, so users can fine-tune weight and contrast to suit themselves.

---

Reckham №1 Light & Italic

Reckham №1 Regular & Italic

Reckham №1 Medium & Italic

Reckham №1 Demi & Italic

Reckham №1 Bold & *Italic

Reckham №1 Black & *Italic

Reckham №2 Light & Italic

Reckham №2 Regular & Italic

Reckham №2 Medium & Italic

Reckham №2 Demi & Italic

Reckham №2 Bold & *Italic

Reckham №2 Black & *Italic

Reckham №3 Light & Italic

Reckham №3 Regular & Italic

Reckham №3 Medium & Italic

Reckham №3 Demi & Italic

Reckham №3 Bold & *Italic

Reckham №3 Black & *Italic

Reckham №4 Light & Italic

Reckham №4 Regular & Italic

Reckham №4 Medium & Italic

Reckham №4 Demi & Italic

Reckham №4 Bold & *Italic

Reckham №4 Black & *Italic

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation.

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation.

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF
the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of sabotage requires no

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE
weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS
involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his occupa-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might nor-

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF
the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of sabotage requires

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE
weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS
involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normal-

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspic-

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his occupa-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might nor-

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS
of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A sec-

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE
weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occu-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, thread, or any other materials he might

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS
of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, thread, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in ev-

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED,
the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation.

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has nor-

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His ar-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any materials he might

18pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has nor-

24pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His ar-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers,

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportu-

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of activity, sometimes referred to as the "human

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude,

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life.

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow work-

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude,

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normal-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, can- dles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of activity, sometimes referred

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normal-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF
the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF
the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED,
the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS
involved, the preferred weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any materials he might normally be

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF
the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE
weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS
involved, the chief weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any,

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other mate-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of activity, sometimes referred

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the chief weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of activity, sometimes referred

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the chief weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity.

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arse-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF
the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE
weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportu-

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED,
the weapons of the citizen saboteur are salt, nails, candles, thread, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be ex-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INV-olved, the weapons of the citizen saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are nails, candles, pebbles, salt, or any other materials he

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are nails, candles, pebbles, salt, or any other materials he might nor-

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other mate-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any,

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materi-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude,

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usu-

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude,

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the chief weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF THE citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying surliness and stupidity. This type of

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday

16pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile,

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situa-

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS IN- volved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION
is involved, the weapons of
the citizen-saboteur are salt,
candles, pebbles, thread, or
any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt an uncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow workers, engaging in bickerings, or displaying

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty

12pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the chief weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be ex-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant situation among one's fellow work-

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportu-

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS OF the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, or any other materials he might nor-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materi-

8pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE WEAPONS of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect means. It is based on universal opportunities to make faulty decisions, to adopt a noncooperative attitude, and to induce others to follow suit. Making a faulty decision may be simply a matter of placing tools in one spot instead of another. A non-cooperative attitude may involve nothing more than creating an unpleasant

10pt

WHERE DESTRUCTION IS INVOLVED, THE weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which he has normal and inconspicuous access in everyday life. A second type of simple sabotage requires no destructive tools whatsoever and produces physical damage, if any, by highly indirect

12pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION IS involved, the weapons of the citizen saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materials he might be expected to possess as a householder or as a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the kitchen shelf, the trash pile, his own usual kit of tools and supplies. The targets of his sabotage are usually objects to which

16pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, or any other materials he might normally be expected to possess as a householder or a worker in his particular occupation. His arsenal is the

32pt

WHEREVER DESTRUCTION is involved, the key weapons of the citizen-saboteur are salt, nails, candles, pebbles, thread, or any other materi-

---

Tabular Figures

1234567890 → 1234567890

---

Oldstyle Figures

1234567890 → 1234567890

---

Arbitrary Fractions

1/9 3/8 25/32 → 1/9 3/8 25/32

---

Superiors & Inferiors

Estuarial3 H<sub>2</sub>O → Estuarial<sup>3</sup> H<sub>2</sub>O

---

Small caps

Hamburg Frankfurt → HAMBURG FRANKFURT

---

Ordinals

23<sup>a</sup> 65<sup>o</sup> → 23<sup>a</sup> 65<sup>o</sup>

---

Case-sensitive Forms

(NON-COM) «OBOE» → (NON-COM) «OBOE»

---

Ligatures

Define flee office afflict ruff Kafka surfboard fjord hofhaus
→ Define flee office afflict ruff Kafka surfboard fjord hofhaus

---

Designed by Max Phillips.

Design support and font engineering by Sebastian Carewe.

Not all applications support OpenType features, and not all OpenType-aware applications support all OpenType features.
OpenType is either a registered trademark or trademark of Microsoft Corporation in the United States and/or other countries.

Text adapted from Simple Sabotage Field Manual, published by the United States Office of Strategic Services, January 1944.

©2023-2025 Signal Type Foundry Limited
Dublin, Ireland
Reckham is a trademark of Signal Type Foundry Limited.
All rights reserved.

hello@signalfoundry.com